

Sherry Boykin is a Christian women's conference speaker and author from Northeast Pennsylvania. Her ministry, But-Kickers: *Growing Your Faith Bigger Than Your "But!" helps women rise above the "buts" and doubts of life, and trust God for the otherwise unbelievable. Sherry's experiences in inner-city ministries, as a jungle missionary to Peru, and as an old maid who dated twenty years before finding her Mr. Right provide a striking backdrop for countless life lessons laced through the Word.

Sherry loves hot weather, canoe launches, good movies, and the dimple on her little girl's right cheek. She and her husband, Ted, enjoy campus ministry and have dorm-parented hundreds of undergraduate men over the past thirteen years. They are the proud, exhausted, middle-aged parents of a second-grader who speaks half her 15,000 words per day before seven a.m.

Sherry is represented by Hartline Literary Agency, and is a member of the Christian Communicators speakers' bureau.